

MEETING SCHEDULED IN LIBYA

Arabs May Lift Embargo Sunday

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said today that Arab oil ministers would agree to lift the embargo on oil shipments to the United States at a Cairo meeting planned for Sunday.

But Algeria and Libya, who oppose ending the embargo, appeared to be contesting the time and date of the meeting.

It originally was scheduled to take place Sunday in Tripoli, but Libya has pleaded a lack of hotel rooms. Algerian and Libyan government-controlled newspapers now want it to convene in Tripoli on Wednesday.

Decisions made at Arab meetings often reflect the view of the host countries. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat reportedly has been pushing for an end or easing to the embargo.

Despite the doubts about Libya and Algeria, Egypt was pushing ahead with plans for the Sunday meeting. An Egyptian Oil Ministry spokesman said Friday, "Egypt preferred to stick to the original date and all preparations for holding the meeting, including reserving hotel rooms in Cairo, are proceeding."

The spokesman, Mahmoud Roushy, said Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Abu Dhabi, Bahrain and Qatar have already agreed to attend.

Some observers speculated that the meeting might be put off until the military situation along the Syrian front stabilizes. Israeli and Syrian forces clashed there Friday, but no casualties were reported.

Al Ahram said in a dispatch from Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, that the decision on the embargo to be made at the Cairo meeting will be in line with a resolution passed by an Arab conference last month in Algiers.

Sadat met in Algiers Feb. 14 with King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, Syrian President Hafez Assad and Algerian President Houari Boumedienne.

Sadat reportedly pressed then for an easing of the embargo, in effect since the October war, to thank the United States for helping bring about a Suez front disengagement. But no resolution on the matter was made public, and the meeting appeared to have decided to retain the squeeze pending a Middle East political settlement.

There have been reports that Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf sheikdoms might support Sadat this time and vote to end the embargo.

But Saudi King Faisal, who controls the world's largest known oil reserves, is still on record as opposing any change in policy until Israel returns all occupied Arab lands, including Old Jerusalem with its Muslim holy places. Israel has said it will never give up the city.

Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani called for the lifting of the embargo in a Wall Street Journal interview published earlier this week. But the Beirut daily newspaper An Nahar said today Yamani has come under fire for "extreme American sympathies" and for policies "which are not in the interest of Saudi Arabia." It predicted he may be replaced soon by one of Faisal's sons.

Two Berrien Medics Face Drug Charges!

Two Berrien county physicians were arraigned Friday in Berrien Fifth District court on criminal charges of dispensing drugs without following proper procedure.

Named in 14 warrants containing 24 counts was Dr. Ryung Hoon Lee, M.D., Benton Harbor.

Charged in four warrants was Dr. Darward L. Dill, D.O., Niles.

Both demanded examinations which were scheduled tentatively by Judge John T. Hammond for March 20. The physicians were released on personal recognizance bonds of $1,000 for each of the charges against them.

All of the charges are felonies and each carries a 7-year maximum prison term.

Both doctors are accused of dispensing controlled substances not in accordance with the normal standards of medical or osteopathic practice, according to the Berrien prosecutor's office.

BYUNG H. LEE
Benton Harbor M.D.

The physicians were arrested after an investigation was initiated by the Berrien Metro Narcotics squad which turned the cases over to the State Department of Licensing and Regulation.

The licenses of both Lee and Dill were suspended earlier this month by state regulatory boards for allegedly prescribing drugs without conducting medical histories or physical examinations. The suspensions were then lifted by Berrien Circuit Judge Williams S. White, pending hearings before state boards.

The charges against Lee were contained in 14 warrants alleging delivery of various substances in his office at 925 Pipestone street in Benton Harbor to either a member of the investigation unit of the state department of licensing and regulation or to state policemen assigned to the diversion investigation unit of that department.

The alleged offenses were: delivery of amphetamines on Sept. 27, Oct. 15, twice on Oct. 31, Nov. 6, Nov. 7, Dec. 11, twice on Jan. 22 and Jan. 23.

Also, delivery of secobarbital on Oct. 15, twice Oct. 31, Nov. 6, twice, Nov. 7, Nov. 13, Dec. 11, Jan. 22 and Jan. 23.

And, delivery of eskatrol Oct. 15, Nov. 6, Nov. 13, and Jan. 9.

The charges against Dill were contained in four warrants and alleged delivery of amphetamines in his office at 1707 Broadway in Niles to either a member of the state department of licensing and regulation or to state police assigned to that department.

The charges were delivery of amphetamines on Oct. 15, Oct. 16, Dec. 6 and Jan. 10.

Atty. John Dewane, St. Joseph, represented both defendants at Friday's arraignment. He said his firm would represent Dr. Lee at preliminary examinations, but that Atty. Jerry O'Connor, Cassopolis would henceforth represent Dr. Dill.

'Watch Your Children,' NAACP Urges Parents

The executive committee of the Twin Cities NAACP has urged parents to watch over schoolchildren to curb "more and more offenses, some criminal between junior high and grade school students..."

The committee, in a release signed by Mrs. Mary R. DePoe, announced it adopted a resolution Wednesday "to publicly plead for parents of our school community to become more actively concerned with their own children's behavior, to and from school and at school."

A statement from the executive committee said the resolution was passed after it was brought to the attention of the executive committee "more and more offenses, some criminal between junior high and grade school students are happening."

The committee suggests that parents: —Know where their children are during and after school hours.

—Talk to their children about loitering at businesses if not doing business there.

—Visit their children's school from time to time.

—Get acquainted with community agencies where child and parent counseling are available for the asking.

These include the Youth Services Bureau, Riverwood Community Health Center and satellite clinic, and Child and Family Services.

Witnesses Grab Trio After Car Crash

By RALPH LUTZ

Three Chicagoans, who allegedly left the scene of a traffic accident off I-94 in Lincoln township Friday night, were apprehended by two witnesses to the crash, according to state police from the Benton Harbor post.

Troopers identified the alert witnesses as James Snelling, 23, of Benton Harbor; and Michael Gryzick, 25, of Stevensville.

The accident occurred about 9:45 p.m. on eastbound I-94, a few feet west of Puetz road. Troopers said an auto, disabled and parked in the median, was struck in the rear by another car that went off the freeway. Witnesses said the occupants of the car got out and left, after the vehicle continued a few feet, but became mired in mud.

Troopers said Snelling and Gryzick ran after the three to near Puetz road and led them back to the accident scene.

Placed under arrest by officers were: George S. Hewett, 22, the driver, booked on charges of leaving the scene of an injury accident, violating the controlled substance act (possession of the DePriests at 973 Pipestone street. Mrs. DePriest said Mrs. Blash lost all her possessions in the fire and would appreciate donations of clothing for herself and son.

Mrs. DePriest, then Mrs. Amelia Parker, said she was separated from her husband at the time.

Meanwhile, Fire Chief Harold Gaddie said the cause of the blaze was traced to wiring.

"The fire definitely originated in the electric wiring," Gaddie said. "Had there been proper fusing in the circuits, instead of

Mrs. Blash escaped the fire when she was taken out by her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Reeves. But Mrs. Reeves returned for the other children and died in the blaze, according to Mrs. H. J. DePriest, mother of Mrs. Blash.

Former Personnel Chief In Tie For No. 2 MESC Post

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Former State Personnel Director Sidney Singer, who resigned under fire, is tied for first place in competition for the job as the No. 2 man at the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

The state Civil Service Department announced Friday that Singer, who faced disciplinary hearings for questionable hiring practices until he resigned, scored 97 out of a possible 100 on an oral exam. He is tied with Jack Friedman of Detroit, an employment commission official.

Singer was able to apply for the job as deputy director of the commission only because one of his subordinates in the state Civil Service Department extended an application deadline.

Civil service officials contended they did not know Singer was even interested in the commission job when they extended the deadline.

Singer has been unavailable for comment since last November when he announced he would step down from his $37,900-a-year post as state personnel director. If he steps into the new post, he will receive $28,710 to $35,287 a year.

"I've had people volunteer opinions to me about whether we should or shouldn't hire Singer," said S. Martin Taylor, commission director. "No one in an official capacity has told me one way or the other about him."

Taylor and the four-member commission will select a new deputy director next month, according to Taylor.

Richard Nixon Turns To Use Of Television

After months of relative isolation, President Nixon has started holding press conferences practically one on top the other. Moreover, he appears even to be shedding his perennial aloofness from much direct contact with reporters for broadcast journalism. On March 19 in Houston, the President is scheduled to hold an unusual question-and-answer session with delegates to the National Association of Broadcasters' Convention. Is he changing his mind about being "kicked around" by the press? Probably not. There's a more likely reason, namely: he feels he needs TV exposure to fight off the effects of Watergate.

Richard M. Nixon has complained more than most Presidents about the power of television. One reason is that Nixon understands that power better than any other President. Television has both advanced and retarded his political career to a remarkable degree.

All in all, the medium has served Nixon well. The dramatic "Checkers" speech probably kept him from being dropped from the 1952 Republican presidential ticket headed by Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Some viewers found the speech offensive, as Nixon himself acknowledges in his book, Six Crises. But he went on to make the inarguable point that, "If it hadn't been for that broadcast, I would never have been around to run for the presidency."

Television proved Nixon's undoing when he made his first run for the White House in 1960. That campaign was notable for the four televised "debates" between Republican nominee Nixon and Democratic nominee John F. Kennedy.

Most observers felt that Kennedy "won" the first debate, principally on the grounds that he had exhibited superior poise and looked better. On the other hand, Bernard Ruben wrote in his book, Political Television, "People who had listened on the radio and had missed the visual side of the situation reported that Nixon came over quite well. . . seemed assured, cautious, and dignified."

Nixon was well aware of his visual shortcomings. "I recognized the basic mistake I had made," he later wrote. "I had concentrated too much on substance and not enough on appearance. I should have remembered that 'a picture is worth a thousand words.' . . I knew. . . that how the candidates looked, to many viewers, was going to be a great deal more important than what they did."

In his book-length account of the 1960 campaign, Theodore H. White wrote that a poll showed "2,000,000 of the Kennedy (victory) margin came from television's impact on the American mind — and since Kennedy won by only 112,000 votes, he was entirely justified in stating on the Monday following election (that). . . 'It was TV more than anything else that turned the tide.'"

Kennedy made effective use of television during his nearly three years as President — but neither he nor any other Chief Executive has used it as extensively as Nixon. "In his first 18 months in office," Fred W. Friendly reports, "President Nixon appeared on prime-time television as many as the combined appearances of Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson in their first 18 months in office." Moreover, Nixon has delivered a number of speeches carried exclusively by radio.

The President's ability to command instant access to television, as often as he desires, has been criticized by some as an unwelcome extension of executive power. It has been proposed that Congress and officials of the opposition party be given additional opportunities to present their views on TV. But no one seriously suggests that the President's access to television and radio be curtailed. For he is, as columnist Max Lerner has said, the country's "Communicator-in-Chief."

Practice That Makes Perfect

The following text was condensed from "The Spotlight," a Field Enterprises Educational Corporation publication, "Everyone likes to be competent in what he or she does. But no one becomes competent without effort. Competence doesn't come all at once. It takes practice. When a person starts his or her job, the ability to handle the job must be developed. A person must practice the skills and thinking processes necessary to reach competence. Repetition should result in the competence desired."

Fight Seems Probable Over Defense Budget

Although detente is still stated policy in relations with the Soviet Union, the spiraling arms race continues. Most comparisons in armaments possessed by the United States and the USSR show the Soviet Union gaining in relative strength in several important fields. Apparently the Soviets are strengthening their capabilities, particularly in intercontinental missiles and in nuclear submarines.

After years of draining military resources in Vietnam, the U.S. Department of Defense now finds it necessary to catch up by increasing its budget $6.3 billion to $85.8 billion for fiscal 1975. Preliminary questioning by the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee on the defense budget request indicates there is a sharp difference of opinion in Congress over the question of escalating defense expenditures.

Because of the effect inflation is having on the budget generally and the expectation that some reduction in defense appropriations might follow the end of American troop involvement in Indochina, Congress is not in a mood to accept such a large defense increase without a fight.

Secretary of Defense Schlesinger did not help his position with the admission before the subcommittee that his budget request contains "an element of economic stimulus."

Bon Voyage

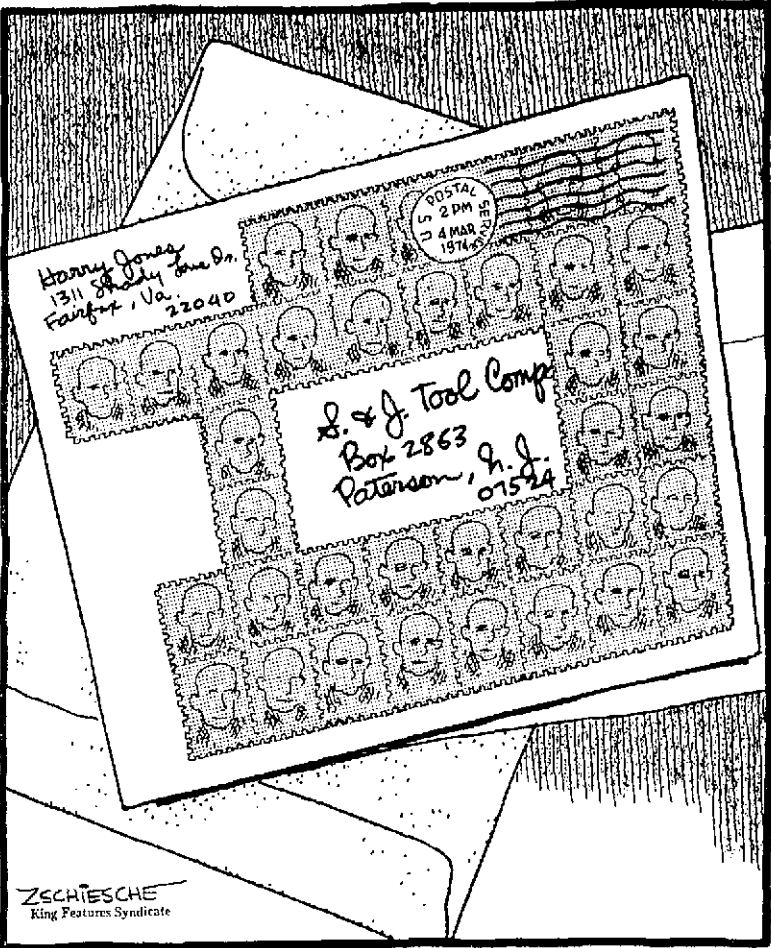

Even leisure cannot be leisurely any more. If you're going to a sunny spot, say Bermuda or Hawaii, you've got to get there as quickly as possible, by jet naturally, so you can start relaxing in a hurry.

Then after golfing and swimming and motorbiking and twisting into the night, you've got to speed back, by jet naturally, before the suntan wears off and in order to maintain the break-neck momentum at home.

It's a shame, but that's the way the world rolls. It is a world in which there is little time for the ocean liner to take vacationers to a sunny spot after a gala bon voyage party and some days of unwinding with strolls around the deck.

Blamed are jet planes and high operating costs of vessels and, by implication, a world which does not have time to relax when it relaxes.

ROSS FIELD NEAR CERTIFICATION — 1 Year Ago —

Twin Cities Airport board learned Thursday Ross Field is close to being certified by the Federal Aviation agency, but crash protection and runway overhang are still to be resolved. The board met at Berrien Hills Country club where former Benton Harbor City Manager Don Stewart was lauded for his 15 1/2 years on the board.

Airport Manager Edward Weisbruch said Ross field complies with most of the certification standards established by the Federal Aviation agency. The problems of emergency crash facilities and what to do about the west end of the main runway are not insurmountable.

URBAN RENEWAL IS APPROVED — 10 Years Ago —

The federal government has approved St. Joseph's urban renewal plans and has reserved $1,925,756 for its execution. Director C. Thomas (Tom) Daley said today. Notification arrived today from A. Dean Swartzel, Chicago, regional director of urban renewal, that the final project report submitted by the city had been approved.

The authorization of funds and the approval of the city's plans covers the entire project extending from Wayne street to the C and O railway bridge and covering almost 32 acres along the St. Joseph river bank.

BERRY'S WORLD

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT

Editor,

"This evening as I sat down to read the paper, front page news, 'Milk Going Up 8 cents', hit me like a thunderbolt.

Early this afternoon my mother remarked, 'You should see this stupid commercial on TV, eggs are being broken to demonstrate what could happen to children in the rear seat of a car without seat belts.' I'm all for safety but isn't this a little far fetched?

Not too long ago we were paying $1 a dozen for eggs, and more. Also, I wonder how many times that commercial had to be made before it was perfect enough to run on TV? Waste not, want not is still the word.

Let's all wake up and realize this please before it's too late.

Historical Guide To Impeachment

The House of Representatives can impeach President Nixon for almost any reason it chooses. In early American impeachments, in fact, the articles were not prepared until after impeachment had been voted on.

But political reality being what it is in this 1974 election year, when all members of the House must face gravely concerned voters and explain their actions, Congress most certainly must decide some thorny constitutional questions before a majority will likely be willing to vote yea or nay on indicting the President of the United States.

These are the problems: Can a president be charged for the actions of his subordinates?

James Madison argues yes. It would, Madison said " . . . subject him to impeachment himself if he suffers them to perpetuate with impunity high crimes or misdemeanors against the United States, or neglects to superintend their conduct, so as to check their excesses."

But Elbridge Gerry, another framer of the Constitution, disagreed, arguing subordinate officers should bear their own responsibility.

Can a president be removed from office because he has, in the minds of the majority of the House and two-thirds of the Senate, exhibited such habitual disregard of the public interest that his actions have cost him the confidence of the nation to such a degree he can no longer govern effectively?

Time and gain, in the 13 instances in which U.S. officials have been impeached, this charge has been made and strongly argued. However, the fact that only four of the 13 were convicted does not speak strongly for the practical effectiveness of this charge.

Can a president legitimately be removed for defying the will of Congress and, if he can, how serious must that defiance be?

President Andrew Johnson was charged with having failed to respect the prerogatives of Congress in removing Edwin M. Stanton as secretary of war; the issue was whether the President or Congress should have the constitutional and military power to make and enforce Reconstruction policy in the South.

The British history, where the impeachment article in the U.S. constitution has its roots, impeachment was used regularly to increase the power of Parliament and to clip the power of the King. That is, Parliament regularly removed those ministers who most effectively advanced the King's will.

Can a president be held liable for impeachment for evading taxes and did Mr. Nixon in fact willfully evade his proper share?

Can a president properly be removed on such difficult-to-define but important charges as subverting the democratic process? If he can, how can such actions be defined. Are the individual charges of great import, or is it rather, as has been held in numbers of previous U.S. impeachments, the entire course of his conduct in office.

These constitutional points will be of little importance, of course, if the House determines that Mr. Nixon has been guilty of criminal acts, or has participated in the obstruction of justice.

Is Kalmbach The Last Straw?

At times of severe political strain, madmen tend to become highly visible. So noted Alexis de Tocqueville in the streets of Paris during the Revolution of 1848. Also that: the madness is not random in character. It mirrors and exaggerates the actual strains in the surrounding milieu.

Item: A disturbed serviceman recently landed his helicopter on the White House lawn, impervious to the shotgun blasts of the guards.

Item: Another nut, Samuel Joseph Byck, attempted to hijack a jet airliner with the intention, tape-recorded earlier, of crash diving it into the White House. Byck killed himself after killing the pilot, wounding others, and being himself wounded by a guard.

The atmosphere is Shakespearean, late Shakespearean. These cranks obscurely sense that Nixon's end is near and they are almost surely correct.

Until now, President Nixon has been subjected to a barrage of charges. It began last summer with the testimony of John Dean and it has continued relentlessly ever since.

Until now, the allegations have lacked substantiation, and many have turned out to be false or at least subject to conflicting interpretation. Thus even the famous 18-minute gap in one tape turns out to have an alternative mechanical explanation.

As everyone knows, the media have seized on each supposed revelation like a pack of piranhas. I myself have called attention to media abuses and will continue to do so.

But it hardly seems likely that Nixon can now survive the guilty plea and accompanying revelations of Herbert Kalmbach, his personal lawyer for years. Kalmbach has revealed to the prosecutors the existence of a secret and illegal $6 million campaign fund, much of which he himself collected. Six million! According to Kalmbach, this illegal fund was in existence for over two years, and was administered by H.R. Haldeman, who instructed that it be collected in cash. Kalmbach also testified to the buying and selling of diplomatic posts.

The last act is surely at hand, in a disaster of historic proportions. Kalmbach may be only the first of the Nixon insiders to drop a bomb, but his bomb is probably enough. I would think that before much time has passed Richard Nixon would heed his better self, which assuredly does exist, and resign for the good of the country.

Ehrlichman's Hearing Delayed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Los Angeles judge has postponed Monday's scheduled hearing in the Ellsberg burglary case while prosecutors fly to Washington to confer with special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Stephen Trölt requested and was granted a delay of the hearing Friday after explaining that new federal indictments against John D. Ehrlichman and G. Gordon Liddy had raised questions concerning "the future of the prosecution."

Schoolmen, Citizens Group Praise $4.7 Million Plan

By STEVE McQUOWN
Staff Writer

COVERT — School district voters go to the polls here Monday to determine the fate of a proposed, two-part $4,795,000 school bond construction program.

Proposition "A" of the package asks for approval to sell $2,995,000 in bonds to finance construction of a high school, a middle school and an addition to the elementary school.

Proposition "B" asks for approval to sell $1,800,000 in bonds to finance construction of a physical education facility, a swimming pool, an auditorium and a bus garage.

The proposals have been written in such a way that approval of the second proposition hinges on approval of the first.

A property tax of from 6.5

mills to 8.5 mills would be levied to pay off construction bonds if either or both propositions are approved.

Voters defeated a $4.45 million construction proposal two years ago this month and also defeated a seven-mill operating levy last year.

In seeking the bond issue, school officials have described the present 51-year-old high school building as "obsolete and inadequate when evaluated by any standard."

Existing elementary school facilities are so crowded that 10 portable classrooms are being used, they added.

Approval would also provide the room for the establishment of a middle school and separation of students in grades six through eight from pupils in lower elementary grades.

School officials and members of a citizen's committee have also praised the program as one that would allow the addition of vocational programs, a library, media center, music room, cafeteria and guidance counseling and administrative offices.

Supporters have also tried in campaign literature to appeal to a sense of economic pride.

In information about the district, Supt. John Krenkow pointed out that the Covert school district is among the eight most wealthy districts in the state due primarily to the $21,000,000 tax base of a Consumer Power company plant in the school district.

Each of the district's 835 students is backed by about $61,500 in valuation, according to Krenkow.

Yet, he said, to look at the district's school buildings and crowded facilities, "...one would not suspect it (Covert) was one of the richest districts in Michigan this year."

The high tax base has also kept the district's tax levy down - 16.63 mills this year - and approval of the proposed construction package would only elevate Covert closer to the county average, Krenkow said.

WOULD BE REPLACED: This 51-year-old Covert high school building would be replaced if voters approve school bond construction program at special election Monday. School officials have called the building "obsolete and inadequate."

Radiologists Urge Adults To Check Thyroid Glands

Radiologists in the Twin Cities are recommending that adults who received X-ray treatment to their tonsils, adenoids or thymus as children in the 1940s and 1950s should have their thyroid glands examined by their physician.

Dr. Henry J. Klos, radiologist on the staff of both Mercy and Memorial hospitals, said there is a suspicion that X-ray treatment to the region of the neck in children may increase the incidence of a low grade (slow growing) cancer of the thyroid gland 10 to 30 years later.

He noted that interest has risen here in the matter in the wake of an effort of Michael Reese hospital in Chicago to "recall" such patients.

Dr. Klos' statement is as follows:

"Because of the announcement of a study of the long range effects of x-ray treatment about the neck by Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, this week, interest has been aroused here by those who have received similar treatment."

"X-ray treatment to the tonsils and adenoids was commonly given in the past for repeated infections of the ears, tonsils and adenoids when surgery could not be performed or antibiotics were not effective. Treatment of the thymus gland (in the chest) was given to those infants in whom it was thought that the gland was causing pressure on the windpipe and obstruction to breathing.

"There is a suspicion that x-ray treatment to the region of the neck in children may increase the incidence of a low grade (slow growing) cancer of the thyroid gland 10 to 30 years later. Although many thousands of children in the United States have received x-ray treatment to the tonsils and thyroid gland in the 1940's and 50's, the number of thyroid cancers among them is so small that a vast number must be studied to determine if irradiation is a contributing cause. Most patients with thyroid cancer have never had x-ray treatment and, by far, most patients who have had x-ray treatment do not develop thyroid cancer."

"A Michael Reese Hospital spokesman was quoted in the Chicago Tribune, March 6, 1974, as suggesting that about 5% of infants and children who received x-ray treatment to the neck or chest might get a thyroid cancer at some time in their lives. After a telephone conversation with a Michael Reese researcher on the project, Dr. W.A. Chickering, radiologist in charge of radiation therapy at Mercy Hospital, Benton Harbor, said that this was considered as probably a high estimate.

"In order to determine if there are more thyroid tumors, benign or malignant, in patients who have received x-ray treatment to the tonsils, adenoids or thymus in infancy or childhood, Twin Cities radiologists are recommending that such patients have their thyroid glands examined by their physicians for nodules (small lumps). If they have no physician, or would prefer, they may be examined at the x-ray departments of either Mercy or Memorial Hospitals, wherever they received treatment and where their records are still present. An appointment may be made by calling the appropriate hospital x-ray department. The radiologists at both hospitals are: Henry J. Klos, M.D.; W.A. Chickering, M.D.; John T. McLelland, M.D.; Gene E. Maddock, M.D.; and Walter Decker, M.D.

"The radiologists request that the result of any examination be forwarded to them at either hospital in order that this might be made a part of the patient record and of a possible statistical analysis. Letters will be sent to treated patients but since virtually all were treated over 15 years ago and some over 30 years ago, many will be difficult to find."

"Since the usual thyroid cancer in such cases is low grade and rarely spreads, speed is not essential and examinations may be scheduled when convenient. However, they should be performed annually, perhaps by the patient himself once he learns how."

Sinn Quits Berrien Post To Head Region Planners

Thomas Sinn, director of development for Berrien county, has resigned effective in mid-April to accept a position as executive director of the Region IV Planning commission covering the counties of Berrien, Cass and Van Buren. Sinn, 35, was hired as the first director of the Berrien county planning commission in 1966 and the title was later changed to county development director as his assignments for the county increased.

The Region IV Planning commission was established last year separate from but in coordination with the Michiana Area Council of Governments. Berrien county Commissioner Frank Poorman is chairman of the regional planning body.

In the newly created position of regional director, Sinn will be working on coordination of long range planning for the three counties.

Sinn announced his resignation in a letter to the county planning commissioners. "Although this was not an easy decision to make, I look on it as an extension of the work I have been doing in Berrien county," he said.

A native of St. Joseph and 1956 graduate of St. Joseph high school, Sinn received a bachelor's degree from the Michigan State university school of urban planning. He was in the U.S. Army from 1960 to 1963 and then served as planning director for the City of Ithaca, N.Y., and the Greater Ithaca Regional Planning board.

Knights Of Columbus Offer $100 For Arrest Of Cobbler's Attacker

The Benton Harbor-St. Joseph Knights of Columbus council has offered a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the assailant of a Benton Harbor cobbler beaten Feb. 19 in his downtown store.

Frank Forestieri, 70, of 777 East Napier avenue, Benton township, remains in "serious" condition in the intensive care unit at St. Joseph Memorial hospital. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus.

Forestieri was beaten with a three-pound shoe mold during a robbery at his shop at 208 Territorial road.

The $100 reward boosts reward money in the case to $125.

Earlier, Dr. Thomas Woodford, a Benton Harbor podiatrist, offered $25 reward.

The Knights of Columbus submitted the reward to Rev. Leroy White, pastor of St. John's Catholic church in Benton Harbor. Information on the case may be submitted to Fr. White or Benton Harbor police.

Forestieri originally described the assailant as a black male in his teens, tall and thin, according to Benton Harbor detectives, then changed the account, saying the assailant was a white male.

Det. Sgt. Sam Watson said the investigation is continuing.

Impossible Dream Comes True For Niles

Height Overcomes St. Joe In District Finals

BY JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

NILES — The impossible dream is now reality for the Niles basketball team.

Coach Dean Adams' determined Vikings brought an end to 13 long years of disappointment and frustration here Friday night by defeating St. Joe 84-59 to win their first Class A district championship since 1961.

"Sure, it's worth the wait...heck yes," Adams grinned in his coaching office after the long-sought triumph. "I look back now and think we could have won four others if the breaks had just gone our way like they did the other night against Benton Harbor."

"I just hope we don't have to wait 13 more years."

The Vikings didn't need any breaks Friday night as they poured in 59 per cent of their shots and put all five starters in double figures to defeat St. Joe for the third time this season.

Center Dave Barnes led the way with 18 points and 11 rebounds while hitting eight of nine shots. Bill Weaver and John Harrington scored 14 apiece while Dick Crocker added 13 and Ed Hartman 11, which was 10 more than he scored in two previous tournament games.

Forward Mike Ryan of St. Joe led all scorers with 20 points and hit 9 of 14 shots, but the rest of his teammates found the mark on only 15 of 51 attempts — a chilly 29 per cent average that proved fatal against the taller Vikings.

The Bears played without the services of guard Mickey Ott, who sat out the game for disciplinary reasons, but what they really needed was Tom Scheffler, the 6-10 all-state center from last year's team who'll be playing for Purdue against Indiana this afternoon in a crucial Big Ten game.

Unfortunately, they had no such tower of strength around the basket and were totally unable to overcome Niles' height advantage of almost three inches per man in the front line.

"We were overwhelmed on the boards," St. Joe coach George Gauder noted with accuracy. "Their big men outplayed our big men, outshot them and outrebounded them." "Certainly, they've got a better team — I guess you have to say that after getting beaten three times. But if we'd played them equal on the boards the score would have been a lot closer."

"That's been our weak suit all year. We're just not a good rebounding team, and it's not because we don't work on it."

The Vikings outrebounded St. Joe 21-10 on their offensive boards and repeatedly scored on tip-ins and layups after their infrequent missed shots.

St. Joe led 12-10 after four minutes of play with center Tom Armstrong sinking three of his first four shots from the side, but Niles then ran off 10 straight points and was never headed again.

The Vikings built a 49-36 halftime advantage while sinking 20 of 30 shots and then switched from their usual man-to-man defense to a 2-3 zone, a move that Adams later termed "an experiment."

It proved eminently successful during the third quarter as the Bears hit only 3 of 16 shots while Niles squelched any hopes of an upset by expanding its lead to 66-43, and when the Vikings scored the first three baskets of the final period

Adams began clearing the bench.

Armstrong finished with 14 points — 12 in the first half — to close out his final season with a 13.5 average, just 17 points under Ryan's team-leading 14.3.

Overall, the Bears sank just 24 of 65 shots for a 37 per cent average and converted only 11 of 20 free throws while Niles hit 35 of 59 from the field and 14 of 21 from the foul line.

St. Joe also experimented briefly — and unsuccessfully — with a zone defense at the start of the game, but quickly switched back to a zone press and man-to-man.

"They got 84 points, but I thought we played well on defense," Gauder observed. "I thought we handled their shuffle offense, but they just killed us on the boards."

The victory gives Niles a sparkling 21-2 record and a 10-game winning streak to take in to the Class A regional tournament at Western Michigan University next Wednesday.

St. Joseph concludes the season with a 12-10 record.

Milam Man Of Hour For Lawton

Blue Devil Comeback Nips Martin For District Title

PORTAGE — Dan Milam was the man of the hour — and especially the last minute — as Lawton won its first district basketball championship in six years here Friday night.

The six-foot senior forward scored a career high of 25 points and accounted for the final four points of the game as the Blue Devils came from behind to edge Martin 66-64 in the Class D district finals at Portage Central high school.

Milam tied the game at 64-64 on a pair of free throws with 48 seconds left and then sank a turnaround jump shot with just 12 seconds remaining to give the Blue Devils the victory and the title.

Martin had one last chance on an in-bounds play with two seconds left, but Randy Russell knocked down a lob pass at the basket to preserve the dramatic triumph.

"Our kids never gave up," Lawton coach Jorge Ortega said of the valiant comeback from a 24-12 deficit in the second quarter. "They never say quit — they don't know how."

"We kind of expected Charlie (Shanahan) after his big night against Schoolcraft. That's why we worked on our inside game and it paid off. It proves we're not a one-man team."

Shanahan, the Blue Devils' senior guard who scored 35 points in the victory over Schoolcraft, was double-teamed by Martin whenever he got the ball but still managed to score 18 points for a career total of 1,001.

But it was Lawton's front line that really came through, with center Duane Ott backing Milam with 14 points and 14 rebounds while Russell added 11 points.

The three front men also converted 24 of 30 free throws with Ott hitting 10-of-10 and Milam and Russell each 7-of-10 to lead Lawton in an overall 28-5-36 performance at the foul line that made the difference in the game.

Milam also hit 9 of 16 from the field, but the Blue Devils were still outshot 53 per cent to 38 per cent and outscored by 18 points in baskets.

Martin got only eight points in 13 attempts from the foul line, however, and the 20-point disparity proved fatal.

While four players accounted for all but two of Lawton's points, Martin put eight men in the scoring column but only two in double figures — Dan Snyder with 15 points and Jerry Seewan with 10.

The victory gives Lawton a 12-10 record to take into the regional tournament at Sturgis next Wednesday. Martin bows out with a 7-16 record.

Lancers Have Chance For High Finish

Lakeshore could be on its way to a high finish in the Class B state wrestling tournament at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

The Lancers currently stand in sixth place in the team standings, but are only four and a half points out of second and have an excellent chance of moving up with two wrestlers in the championship semifinals and another still alive in the consolation bracket.

Ed Krager, 145 pounds, and Rick McGrath, 155, both won their first two matches and coach Bruce Bittenbender says "they have tough matches in the semifinals this afternoon, but both have a good chance of winning if they get into the finals."

Krager won his first two matches on pins and McGrath, who is now 32-0 for the season, took a pair of decisions.

Mark Mohler lost his first match, but came back to win his next two at 138 to keep alive a possible third-place finish in the consolation bracket.

Defending state champion Warren Watson, 138, of Brandywine and suprising Mark Slieter, 112, of River Valley also won their first two matches and will be in the championship semifinals this afternoon.

Other area wrestlers in the consolation bracket are Russ Hollins (167) and Don Wilson (119) of Brandywine, Reggie Adams (185) of Buchanan and Jess Townsend (138) and Randy Pompey (145), both of Dowagiac.

Scott Werner of Edwardsburg won his first two matches and he is the only area wrestler remaining in the Class C field at Haslett.

Bruce Zech of Berrien Springs and Decatur's Larry Herron, who was undefeated entering the tournament, and Scott Ferris were knocked out in the early rounds.

Niles' Les Holt (112) is in the consolation bracket in the Class A tournament at Grand Rapids Calvin College.

The Class D tournament will get underway today at Lansing Waverly high school, with Covert's Maurice Jones (hwt), Leo Lerna (138) and Kevin Ervin (98) all seeking individual crowns.

The consolation finals of the Class B tournament at Reid Fieldhouse at Western Michigan will begin at 6 p.m., with finals at 7:30.

Hot-Shooting Lakers Romp Past Pistons

From Associated Press

Coach Bill Sharman says his Los Angeles Lakers now are playing "the Celtic way," and he hopes it will help when the Lakers begin an all-important road trip Sunday at Boston.

The Celtic way, says Sharman, is "good movement" and "balanced scoring," which helped the Lakers defeat the Detroit Pistons 129-113 Friday night and keep within one-half game of Golden State in the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division.

Gail Goodrich and Jimmy Price each scored 31 points in the one-sided victory. It was the most points Price has ever scored, but he paid for it with a gash above his left eye which required stitches.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Golden State Warriors defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 106-96, the Seattle SuperSonics got by the Buffalo Braves 123-117 in overtime, and the Houston Rockets upset the Boston Celtics 113-106.

Other coaches should have Sharman's problems.

"Everybody was shooting well," Sharman said. "I hated to take anybody out because they were all shooting well, but everytime I put somebody in they shot well too."

"We didn't play a lot of defense, but we rebounded and we ran well. We had good movement and I really liked the balanced scoring we had. That was the Celtic way," the coach said.

Warriors 106, 76ers 96

Jim Barnett scored 22 of his 26 points in the second half and Rick Barry got 28 to help Golden State rally from a 28-14 first-quarter deficit.

Barry scored 18 points in the second period and the Warriors cut the margin to 51-46 by the half. Behind Barnett's splurge, the Warriors then took a healthy 74-65 lead in the third period.

Sonics 123, Braves 117

Jim Fox sank two free throws with five seconds left in regulation time to tie the score at 109-109, then Dick Gibbs scored six points in overtime to snap a three-game Buffalo winning streak.

Buffalo's Bob McAdon led all scorers with 37 points, and Spencer Haywood led the Sonics with 31. Fred Brown contributed 29 points to a winning cause.

Rockets 113, Celtics 106

Rudy Tomjanovich got 25 points and helped the Rockets come from nine points back at 74-65 with 6:25 left in the third quarter.

Houston led 49-39 with 4:47 left

VINCENT HOTEL

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale Asked In Suit

Great Midwest Savings & Loan Association of Milwaukee, Wis., sued Friday in Berrien circuit court to obtain a mortgage foreclosure sale of the Vincent hotel at 185 East Main, Benton Harbor.

The association, through St. Joseph Atty. Lester E. Page, claims the hotel is $263,245.86 in default on a $295,000 promissory note executed Jan. 5, 1965.

It seeks appointment of a receiver to operate the hotel during the pendency of the suit to foreclose.

Judge William S. White has set a show-cause hearing on appointing a receiver for April 8 at 9 a.m.

Named as defendants, as mortgagors, deed-holders, land contract-holders or interested parties are: Vincent Hotel, Inc., of 185 East Main; Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Murphy of West Allis, Wis.; Dayton Corp. of Michigan; and American Hotel Corp. of 185 East Main.

Mortgaged property, according to suit, includes the hotel, personal property within, and a parking lot across the street. Suit asks the court to determine defendants who are personally liable for amounts due Great Midwest and not covered by the foreclosure sale price.

No payments have been made on the $295,000 promissory note since May 27, 1973, and 10 monthly payments worth about $3,363 each are in arrears, according to suit.

Construction of the Vincent, the city's biggest hotel and costing some $333,000, began in 1924 but suffered a severe setback when seven floors of the steel and concrete skeleton collapsed. The cause was listed as frozen concrete.

The hotel was finished in 1925 went through financial turmoil, including a mortgage foreclosure sale ordered April 6, 1932, by Circuit Judge Charles E. White.

The hotel was revitalized, however, and continued to operate, although changing hands several times. The most recent owner is reported to be American Hotel Corp., since May, 1973.

How would you like to sign the work you do?

Would you be willing to tell the world, "I did this?"
After all, you're pretty good at what you do. Probably proud of it, too.

Well, most of us will never get to sign our work. And maybe that's a shame. Because as good as we are, it might make us better. And we can afford to be. Whether we're teachers or short-order cooks, farmers or steamfitters, sales managers or city managers.

We'll all have more to show for it.

More money, for one thing.

Because we'll be giving each other our money's worth for the products, the services and even the government we pay for.

For another thing, we'll be giving America a better chance to take on our foreign business competitors. Not just here. All around the world. That would help bring the lopsided balance of payments back onto our side. And make your dollar worth more.

Best of all, as we hit our stride, we'll be protecting jobs here at home. For ourselves and the future. And we'll have a deeper sense of satisfaction in the jobs we've got.

You don't have to sign your work to see all these things happen. And more.

Just do the kind of work you'd be proud to have carry your name.
